

Passing Places

‘Passing Places’ takes a look at different Traveller communities and their ways of life that have existed for many centuries in the UK. Visitors can explore and learn about their different beliefs, values and feelings through the voices of Travellers, their history, images and objects.

It would be impossible to understand every individual Travelling community’s culture rather, the exhibition sets out to celebrate a unique minority (including our oldest ethnic minority) who have, and will, continue to be part of our lives.

It is also intended to serve as a taster for visitors who want to learn more about travelling communities. Whatever your experience of Travellers, we hope you will be informed, interested and perhaps intrigued.
